

2010 Wooden Lightning Get Together

Geneva, NY

July 24-25, 2010

This years event will be special. We are shifting from Syracuse to Geneva, New York, about 45 minutes west),in order to join with the Finger Lakes Boating Museum in celebration of acquiring their new permanent home. In addition, we will be joining a fleet of classic Snipe class sailboats for our best celebration of classic one-design sailing yet.

Geneva, New York, is a small college town (Hobart) at the north end of Lake Seneca, the largest of Central New York's Finger Lakes. Clean water and a gentle breeze— guarantee it.

We will have our usual fare of daysailing, ultra low key races, and this year also be part of the museum's boat show.

Let the organizers know you are thinking about coming by contacting Bob Astrove at astrove@hotmail.com or 301-340-9521. Even if you are on the fence call or email.

Just as important, fill out the registration forms and send them in. THEY MUST BE IN BY JULY 1

You can pre-order lunches via the registration form or bring your own. Also, a very nice group dinner is offered Saturday evening.

The attached materials also list possible hotels. Hobart College has some dorm rooms for rent at very reasonable rates. Again, please read the attachments.

For more information on Wooden Lightning Class Sailboats:

Website :

Active Message Board: